Johnstown Intermediate students build birdhouses to benefit local foundation

Johnstown Intermediate School students are spending several days constructing birdhouses to benefit the “Lettuce Work Foundation,” which helps young people with autism serve others through agriculture. Some video highlights can be found HERE.

—Junior Achievement Career Fair—

Johnstown High School students recently attended the Junior Achievement Inspire Career Fair at the Columbus Expo Center. Students had the opportunity to meet with local employers to learn about potential job opportunities that may be available to them now and in the future. Local employers who attended as exhibitors were able to meet and engage with their future talent pipeline, exposing students to a world of opportunity. During the JA Inspire expo, students participated in hands-on activities, often using equipment or tools used on a job.

Preparing for the next step!

On May 18, 2023, soon to “graduate” Johnstown Intermediate School students visited the Middle School in preparation for the 2023-24 school year. Some seasoned Middle School students were on-hand to provide some wisdom and tips to the incoming students.

—STAFF SALUTES—

‘Horizon Award’ presented to Robbie Brickner

Congratulations to Johnstown-Monroe’s Robbie Brickner, who was chosen by The Central Ohio Athletic Administrator Association to be presented with the 2023 COIAAA Horizon Award on May 17, 2023. “The Horizon Award is presented to an active athletic administrator who has demonstrated within their first five years, signs of professionalism and involvement, which has made a difference in their school and conference.”

Mr. Brickner posted on social media, “I’m so fortunate to be where I am today. This is a testament to my support system—family, friends, and colleagues. Things aren’t as complicated when you remember that it’s all for the kids.”
