Meet 'Lunch Lady' Terri Stream

AT A GLANCE...

Terri has worked in virtually every Johnstown-Monroe building, past or present.

She currently prepares meals for Johnstown Intermediate students.

Terri has been with Johnstown-Monroe Local Schools for 17 years.

"I like the little kids. I've worked with all ages.
I do enjoy the kids."

Terri Stream's weekdays are spent providing nourishment for Johnstown Intermediate School fourth and fifth graders; somewhere between 120 and 140 lunches are served each school day.

Working in JIS has brought Terri "full circle," as she puts it. She began her career in Johnstown-Monroe Food services as a sub in then-Searfoss Elementary.

The mother of two now-grown "Johnnies," Jarrett and Shelby—"From start-to-finish, my kids graduated from here,"—Terri originally began working in food service because it best fit her schedule as the mother of young JMLSD's students. "I could get them on-and-off the bus. If they had a snow day, I had a snow day."

What are the most popular entrees on the JIS menu? "Walking Tacos," calzones, and pizza. "We do pizza every week, we do breakfast-for-lunch every week—sausages, a potato and either pancakes, waffles, or French toast."
